They're toys, they talk—at least when people aren't around—and they're back... celebrating the return of the "Toy Story" franchise—this time in Disney Digital 3-D™! TOY STORY, the film that started it all, takes moviegoers back to that fantastic fun-filled journey, viewed mostly through the eyes of two rival toys—Woody (voice of TOM HANKS), the lanky, likable cowboy, and Buzz Lightyear (voice of TIM ALLEN), the fearless space ranger. The comically-mismatched duo eventually learn to put aside their differences when circumstances separate them from their owner Andy and they find themselves on a hilarious adventure-filled mission where the only way they can survive is to form an uneasy alliance.

Disney•Pixar's TOY STORY kicks off a Disney Digital 3-D™ Toy Story celebration, which includes "Toy Story 2," opening Feb. 12, 2010, and culminates in a brand new adventure starring Buzz and Woody: "Toy Story 3"—in theaters June 18, 2010.

Notes:

- TOY STORY, originally released on November 22, 1995, was the first fully computer animated feature film and the highest grossing movie of the year with nearly $192 million domestically and $362 million worldwide.
- The four people behind the original story of TOY STORY—John Lasseter, Pete Docter, Andrew Stanton and the late Joe Ranft—are the key creatives (writers and/or directors) responsible for most of Disney•Pixar's subsequent releases: "A Bug's Life," "Toy Story 2," "Monsters, Inc." "Finding Nemo," "Cars," "WALL•E" and the 2009 release "Up."
- TOY STORY was nominated for three Academy Awards® and two Golden Globes.®
- Director John Lasseter was awarded a Special Achievement Award (Oscar®) by the Academy Awards® for his "inspired leadership of the Pixar TOY STORY team, resulting in the first feature-length computer-animated film."
- John Lasseter made his feature film directing debut with TOY STORY in 1995. He has since directed such Pixar classics as "A Bug's Life," "Toy Story 2" and "Cars" and served as executive producer of all other Pixar films to date. He is currently the chief creative officer of Walt Disney and Pixar Animation Studios and principal creative advisor of Walt Disney Imagineering.
